GROOMING PILOT FOR JUMP TO HAITI

By FLOYD J. CALVIN

NEW YORK, Mar. 10—After spending about $3,000 trying to help Negro aviators work up to where they will be recognized as good pilot material, William H. Davis, Harlem publisher, has at last found an aviator he feels will stand the test, and is backing him in a preliminary cross country flight from New York to Washington, and from New York to Pittsburgh, as a try-out before an "army route" flight is attempted from New York to Port-au-Prince, Haiti, on April 15. The pilot is Leon D. F. Parris, 32, a native of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, but who lives in New York at 116 W. 139th street. Mr. Parris was educated in Haiti at the St. Louis de Gonzague, a private school. His private pilot license, which he received on August 15, 1930, is No. 18,069. He was trained as a pilot at Roosevelt Flying School Mineola, L. I., and at the Knickerbocker Flying Depot, Flushing, L. I. He trained on a Fleet 85 h. p. Kinner motor plane, a Travelair 240 h. p. seven passenger cabin plane with Wright wind motor, and a Waco 110 h. p. with Kinner motor. The plane in which he is making the cross country flight, and in which he hopes to hop from New York to Haiti, is a Stearman GS 250 h. p. with Wright Whittle motor, which is a three passenger open plane, and cost $8,600. The proposed trip from New York to Haiti will be taken over the "army route" instead of the "navy route," according to Mr. Parris. He will fly from Flushing to Washington, thence to Washington, Hamilton, Roanoke, then to Key West, Fla., thence to Havana, Cuba, and from Havana to Santiago, and from Santiago to Port-au-Prince. Mr. Parris went to Washington by plane last week to confer with the Haitian minister for permission to make the flight. The distance from New York to Port-au-Prince is 2,432 miles over the "army route," says Mr. Parris.

Fight Attempt To Bring Jim-Crowism Into British Isles

LONDON, Eng., Mar. 10—(CNA by mail)—An effort to introduce segregation into London has called forth a determined protest from the British Section of the League against Imperialism.

A letter from Reginald Bridgeman, honorary secretary of the League, to the Secretary of State and to the Colonial Secretary, states that recently David Tucker of Bermuda, a law student in London and secretary of the League of Colored Peoples, went to sea with Mrs. Isabel Brown, secretary of the British section of the Workers International Relief, at the Essex Stairs Tea room in Essex street. They were informed that they could not be served.

Mr. Tucker had been a visitor many times before in this tea-room, and it was unquestionably the fact that he was with a white woman that led the proprietor to refuse to serve them.

That this instance of Jim-crowism is part and parcel of the increased efforts at segregation in many countries, is the opinion expressed in the letter of the League against Imperialism, which states in part:

"Now this instance of race prejudice in Britain is not an isolated instance, confined to one country. On the very same day that the incident above described occurred in London, Dec. 10, 1931, the 'Evening Standard' reported the lynching in Lewisburg in West Virginia of two Negroes, Tom Jaclin and George Banks. These men were dragged out of Green Brier County jail by a mob of 80 persons and swung up on the telephone post, where they were poured into their dangling bodies. This was the second instance of lynching reported within a week. On Dec. 4th, 4,000 people raided a hospital in Maryland and hanged a wounded Negro, who was accused of shooting a resident."

Honesty of Colored Girl Is Rewarded

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 10—(CNS)—A white man, William A. Follow, lost a $100 watch in the old adage of "finders keepers, losers weepers," and the watch was returned to him by a colored girl, Miss Burrs, 19-year-old, who received a $10 reward for her honesty.

Follow, a white man, was in the city on business and was carrying the watch in his pocket. He was returning to his home in the city when he lost the watch. He was informed that the watch had been found by a colored girl, Miss Burrs, 19-year-old, who received a $10 reward for her honesty.

More recently the Federal Board of Control has given attention to racial prejudice by stating that no colored man shall even be permitted to be a member of the board. There has been another example of this artificially created racial feeling and its disastrous results in the recent murder scandal at Hawaii which is inflaming public opinion throughout the Pacific lands at a time when hostilities have broken out and a great concentration of armed forces is taking place.

New England Prison To Miss Soothing Songs Of Woman Inmate, Now Free

AUGUSTA, Mass., Mar. 10—The soul-stirring spirituals, which made the Kenebec county jail something more than a place of just stone and iron, will be heard no more! For the singer of these impressive songs, comely Eleanor Johnson, has just been freed—acquitted of the charges in connection with the murder of Abraham Levine, young son of a wealthy Waterville, Maine, cattle dealer. While confined to her cell, apparently alone and friendless, her mellow, beautiful voice fairly electrified other jail inmates as it floated softly down to the first floor of the north wing. A hushed silence continued throughout her song and then thunderous applause and appeals for an encore would greet its ending. Mrs. Johnson's songs told in dramatic manner of her loneliness and desolation.

Mrs. Johnson was reported as having been a model prisoner during the time she was held. She exerted a good influence, the guards said, upon the only other woman jail inmate who had been notoriously unruly until Mrs. Johnson's arrival. She ate coarse jail food without complaint, and was not charged with a single infraction during her stay.

All along Mrs. Johnson had protested her innocence, and her lawyer, the veteran James Boyle, believed faithfully that his client would not be convicted.

Town loafer walked into the local newspaper office and said to the editor: "Say, this morning you said I was dead. I want you to correct it." The editor replied: "Hush! You are such an ill-fated liar no one would believe it."

Former Jim-Crow House Begs Colored Patronage

LOEWS EVEN HIRES RACE PUBLICITY WRITER

NEW YORK, Mar. 10—(ANP)—The shoe is on the other foot at last and for once the colored population of New York has the balance of power in theatrical attendance at Loew's theaters. For years, it was a well established fact that no colored person would be permitted to sit in the orchestra section of Loew's Urban Victoria theater. Time after time, civil suits were won by colored persons who had been refused seats in the orchestra section even after they had purchased tickets entitling them to such accommodations. Now, with the depression and the removal of writers from the district, Loew's has relented and opened its heart. It has gone so far as to employ a colored publicity man who in turn is soliciting patronage of colored organizations, offering them special inducements to purchase tickets to the former "Jim Crow" policy house.

Just what the reaction of colored New York will be remains to be seen.

The declaration came in a conversation with a prominent citizen for whom Winston was working. According to his statement he always makes it a point to attend church each Sunday. He is not but attend to his business.

"It is just as I would like to hear a long sermon," said Winston. "I don't mind a long sermon."

They are being toured under the auspices of the International Labor Defense.

Will Of Physician Makes Provisions For Wife, Family

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 10—Dr. Frank R. Cook, physician, who died recently, created a trust fund from the money and assets left after his death to be invested by the Industrial Savings Bank. According to his will, the net proceeds from this fund are to be paid to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Cook, during her life.

He provided for the education of his children, Frank Robert Cook, William Arthur Cook, Richard Eugene Cook and Diana Jocelyn Cook, by directing the Industrial Savings Bank to pay the tuition of each of them out of the net income from the trust fund during the time they are in college or professional schools.

If his widow should live until his children become of legal age, one-third of his entire estate is to be given to her and the remainder is to be equally divided among his children. His sons are to receive their shares as each of them reaches the age of 25 years, and his daughter is to get her share when she is 21 years old.

Ohio Physician's Will Aids Students

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 10—Providing there is no objection on the part of heirs, approximately $11,200 of the $11,500 estimated estate left by the late Dr. William J. Woodlin, 754 Mt. Vernon avenue, will go to aid Negro students at Ohio State and Michigan Universities.

The will of Dr. Woodlin, the second oldest Negro physician in Columbus, was made Dec. 11, 1931, less than a year before his death Feb. 9th. Under Ohio laws, the bequests to the organizations and trust fund are valid if there be no objections on the part of heirs.

The will bequeathed $500 each to the Mt. Vernon A. M. E. Church, National Association for Advancement of Colored People, New York; the National Urban League, New York, and the International Commission of the Y. M. C. A., New York.

"It's a SECRET between Mommy'nMe"

"Sweetest little honey-boy," croons Mommy in sweet confidence, "we can't tell daddy that his little man was cranky and out-of-sorts today. That's to be expected when first teeth begin to cut through tender gums. You just needed a little sleep and some Castoria to be your happy self again."

Little Sugar-Plum is only aware that the burdensome pain and fevered condition is gone. Mother, bless her, knows more than this. Modern science has told her that most of children's ills come from fermenting waste in clogged up little bowels. That is why Castoria does so much good in children's troubles. It gently but efficiently regulates delicate little organs and wise Mother Nature takes care of the rest.

Teething time should not be a disturbing period at all if baby is kept comfortable. If his little organs are relaxed and working as they should, normal, healthful sleep will tide him over the irritation of teething.

Every smart, modern mother knows the value of Castoria, the reliable children's preparation which has been used for years. On every carton of genuine Castoria you will find a full list of the precious ingredients of which it is compounded—all mild, purely vegetable, and containing nothing that could harm the most delicate infant. Children seem to instinctively know that it is good for them. They like its taste—never object to taking it.

After bequests of $100 each to certain local churches, the remainder of the estate is to be placed in trust to be loaned to Negro students at Ohio State and Michigan Universities.
